FIRAS HAMDAN

AGE: 46
NATIONALITY:
AMERICAN-LEBANESE
OCCUPATION: COSMETIC
AND PLASTIC SURGEON

Being a plastic surgeon, you could say image is everything for Firas Hamdan. After all, this is a man who literally has the look of others in his hands. "My industry is very fashion orientated as women come to see me to ensure they look beautiful. I therefore have to ensure I'm up-to-date with trends and I keep fashion conscious," he says, before adding: "Remember, first impressions really do last!"

Although his profession may entail altering the exterior of a person's aesthetic, Hamdan is quick to point out that the essence of our style comes from within. "Style is the inner core of yourself. It's your personality; it's your way of conveying what you feel on the inside to the outside and it's a way of moulding your own identity."

A man with such an outlook on life clearly doesn't need to be overtly extravagant in his sartorial choices. "I wouldn't wear loud, vulgar brands as I'm a firm believer that money cannot buy class. I don't need brash, loud brands to be who I am."

"I OWN LOTS OF COLOURFUL SHIRTS; THEY REFLECT MY PERSONALITY"

MR HAMDAN SAYS: THE LAST THING I BOUGHT AND LOVED... These Siviglia jeans. They're so comfortable. THE THING I'M EYEING NEXT... A watch, but I haven't decided which one yet. THE BOOK ON MY BEDSIDE TABLE IS... A French Asterix & Obelix comic book. THE BEST SOUVENIR I'VE BROUGHT HOME IS... A kitten.
